Motivational Profile (MP)

The Motivational Profile is an innovative assessment technique aimed at revealing subconscious factors which determine a person's motivational drive. It is based on Jungian theory and uses archetypes or metaphors to assess a person's everyday drive and energy in their life, work and interpersonal relationships.

The constructs measured include the person's life scripts, motivational patterns, self-awareness, dynamic personality patterns, defense mechanisms, emotional intelligence, personality and risk-related tendencies. The MP is used for purposes of talent management including people development, coaching, and risk control.
